The Richmond players got two runs, one by a passed ball and the other on an error of Walson at third, who later was taken out of the game by the manager of the Rosnoke team.

Against Willis, Too.

Against Willis, Too.

Willis, the man who until yeaterday had the official record as heing the only pitcher in the Virginia, league with a no-hit game to his credit, tild the work for his aggregation, and Colonel Still gave to him just such a package as he handed to Schurmann, of Portamouth. Willis beat the tallenders by the score of one to nothing, and didn't allow them a hit. Still therefore, is something the better, with a no-hit game and two runs on his side. Only one ball got out of the diamond after the Roanoke players had faced the Richmond pitcher. Cooper lined one to Siebrie in center field in the fourth inning, and never had a peep at his life, for Sjebrie wag in the game, from the siat.

While the Lawmakers didn't make so very many hits-only getting four on of Wills-they were in the game from the start, and the ginger was good for the Hicks at Third.

Hicks at third-haso, played an excellent game. He accepted two chances that looked impossible, and while the Colonel gets the credit for pitching a game void of hits, he would have not been so fortunate if Hicks had not played the great game that he did. Twice in succession he dug up hot grounders and lined them to first in a way that will make many of the big league third-sackers get green with envy. McMahon, for the Roanoke team, played a great game at third.

Although the crowd was not as large as previous ones, those who did see the game were agreed that it was the best exhibition witnessed here this season. Umpire Hildebrand, a young man from Rochester, N. Y., handled the indicator, and his decisions were good. There was only one dispute and Shaffer raised this one. Shaffer was called out at the home plate, after a perfect throw from the short-stop to Cooper had been made. It was fairly close, but Shaffer was out, and the umpire was onlirely correct. He appeared to know the game all right, and is a very pleasant young man. Danthy, the umpire, who came here from the same city as Hildebrand, will be released this week, so it is said.

Only Two Extra Men.

Four men faced Still in the first in-ning, Bateman getting hit, In the second inning another quartette had to be pitched ning Bateman getting hit. In the second inning another quartatte had to be pitched to because Reeve at short made an error But from this time on, for seven more trainings, it was one-two-three with the Roanoke crowd. Not another man reached the first plate, and when in the last lining with two men out Bateman came to but there was great excitement in the grandstand. With two balls and two strikes on the batter Still sent one over the corner of the plate. Bateman walted for it and the umpire called it a ball. This made the thing very serious, for as yet Still had not walked a man. Bateman landed on the next one and Cuddy transferred it to Shaffer at first.

The game was over and the Richmond twirler had made a record for which ha might be proud.

Two games will be played this afternoon, the first one beginning at 2:30 eclock, and the other one following very close upon the finish of this one.

Drew and Long will likely work, or Eckstone may by put in to do the honors in the first game.

LYNCHBURG GOES DOWN. Could Not Solve the Mystery of McKnight's Delivery.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LYNCHBURG, VA., July 13.—Lynchburg went down before Danville this afterneon to the time of 4 to 1, the locals being unable to solve again the delivery of McKnight, the Lynchburg boy, who was on the slab for the visitors, while ragged support behind Carter gave the Tobaccanists three of times runs. Two of was on the san for the visitors, while ragged support behind Carter gave the Tobacconists three of their runs. Two of these were given by Hamilton in the first inning.

McKnight pitched a strong game, and while he was wild enough to keep Heinry on the jump, he did not give but two passes to first. In the fourth he hit Hearl Holt with a high lishoot just ever the heart. Holt staggered, and would have fallen if Umpire Stachle had not caught him and supported him to the ground. Several physicians attended the first baseman, and in ten minutes he was able to go to the bench, but could not continue the game. The feature of the game was the batting of Doyle, of Danville, and Bentley, of the locals, and the fleiding of McKevitt in right for the Shoemakers. The score:

LEONARD KNOCKED OUT.

Portsmouth Turned Tables on Norfolk: ran and

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
PORTSMOUTH, VA., July 13.—Portsmouth turned the tables on Norfolk today, and won by a score of 5 to 3. Leonard was knocked out of the box in the first inning, and things looked easy for the Truckers; but Evans stopped the slaughter and the run-getting. Ho was touched up pretty lively at times, but Portsmouth threw away several opportunities to score by the most reckless kind of base-running. Revell pitched a good game for Portsmouth, but his error contributed one run to Norfolk. He was not in his usual form, A storm was threatening when the game started, but nearly 1,500 fans were in the grounds, and the rooting was lively all the way through. The high wind that swept across the field made it difficult to gauge fly balls, but the fielding of both teams was good. The work of Figenman, at short, was a feature, but Dingle and Evans were also in the game with both al to The Times-Dispat

MEDAL FOR BATTING.

Handsome Trophy Will Fall to Man Who Hits "Twisters."

Man Who Hits "Twisters."

The firm of Smith & Webster, of Main and Seventh Streets, yesterday afternool offered to present to the Richmond ball-player, who at the end of the season, after having played for thirty days with the Richmond toam, had the best batting average, a medal that will cost more than fifty dollars. Mr. W. B. Bradley, vice-president of the leasue and owner of the Richmond nine, accepted the offer made by the jewelry firm.

The medal will be one of the prettiest ever given to a hall-player, and no sooner had the fact become known than there was a general inferest amons the members of the Richmond team and each one was looking up his batting average.

Just who will win the handsome medal is a matter of conjecture. There are several men who stand a good show to capture the prize, but the great number of games to be played from now until the end of the season will perhaps make difference in the presentage column.

ASHLAND TO HAVE GAS,

ASPILAND TO MANE DAD,

(Special to The Times Dispatch).

ASPILAND, VA., July 13.—The town of Aspiland is to receive a decided impotus in the way of substantial municipal improvement by the introduction of an upto-date and complete sewerage system. Last December Mr. John D. Harris, of Philadelphia, was induced to visit the town, and while here became interested in the subject. He is a constructing engineer of wide, experience, and in consultation with several engineers the problem of sowerage here has been completely solved, and a franchise was granted by the Town Council to Mr. Harris and his associates. This franchise has been faild for, and the necessary bond is now in proparation. mence. Contractor Mathia has let the contracts for most of the material, and the water mains will be on the ground by August 1st. Nearly five miles of piping is required.

The complete organisation of the company was effected in Philadelphia on Monday last, known as the Ashland Gas, Bewer and Water Company, to supply sewer, water and gas in Ashland. The water supply will come from artesian wells sunk to a depth of 450 feet, and it has been domonstrated that a fine quality of water is to be on the gravity basis, with soptic tanks and filter beds.

A building 40 x 70 feet, of substantial construction, will be created.

Mr J. F. Howison, in behalf of Mr. Mastris, of Philadelphia, togsther with Mr. E. L. C. Scott and Mr. W. L. Foy, appeared before the special committee of Randelph-Macon College, in session here today, to discuss the subject of the college contracting with the new water company for their special requirements.

Since the college has erected the new dormitory in the campus and other added improvements, it will consume about Yaugalions of water per day.
